WHAT DO CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS DO?

Qualifying as an ICAEW Chartered Accountant opens up a huge number of potential career paths.

You could find yourself analysing a fashion brand's finances, advising charities on tax, or working on the board of a multinational consumer company.

THEY'RE TRUSTED TO:

ASSESS

From Premier League football clubs to huge multinational companies, chartered accountants look at how money flows in and out, measure the value of assets, and analyse how organisations are performing.

AUDIT

From charities to banks, fashion houses to NHS Trusts, auditors work across every sector to independently confirm the trustworthiness of financial figures. It's work that can take you all around the world.

ADVISE

Companies turn to chartered accountants when they want to launch a new product, buy another company or improve the way they operate. That's why many chartered accountants move into chief executive officer (CEO) roles and other senior leadership positions.

ANALYSE

Calculating the worth of a company's physical goods might seem relatively straightforward, but how do you measure the value of a brand, or measure the impact of climate change on the valuation of assets? That's where you come in.

OUR QUALIFICATIONS

ASSOCIATE CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT (ACA)

The ICAEW Associate Chartered Accountant (ACA) qualification is one of the most advanced learning and professional development programmes available. It is valued around the world in business, practice and the public sector. The knowledge and skills provided by the ACA mean that ICAEW Chartered Accountants are highly sought after professionals.

Learn more about the ACA qualification on page 8 (head to ACA explained).

ICAEW CERTIFICATE IN FINANCE, ACCOUNTING AND BUSINESS (ICAEW CFAB)

ICAEW CFAB is a qualification that teaches essential knowledge in finance, accounting and business, and it is recognised by organisations worldwide. Made up of the first six modules of the ACA, ICAEW CFAB will teach you skills that will be useful throughout your working life, and the qualification can be the first step towards a career as an ICAEW Chartered Accountant.

ICAEW BUSINESS AND FINANCE PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATION (ICAEW BFP)

ICAEW CFAB is also a stepping stone to the ICAEW Business and Finance Professional (BFP) designation. BFP provides you with professional status, recognises your achievements, and supports you with your development as you progress in your career. Demonstrating your ability to stay up to date in your profession, BFP is evidence of a strong understanding of ethics and a commitment to professional development.

ACA EXPLAINED

There are four integrated elements to ACA training.

PRACTICAL WORK EXPERIENCE

You need to record 450 days of relevant 'on-the-job' work experience.

ACCOUNTANCY, FINANCE AND BUSINESS MODULES

These modules introduce you to core concepts, where your technical knowledge and experience can grow.

ETHICS AND PROFESSIONAL SCEPTICISM

You'll identify ethical dilemmas, understand the implications and behave appropriately.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Demonstrate your competence in communication, teamwork and decision-making.

THE EXAMS

The ACA equips you with in-depth knowledge across a range of topics in accountancy, finance and business. The 15 computer-based exams can be taken at an exam centre or remotely, and are split across three levels:

- Certificate Level: Accounting, Assurance, Management Information, Business, Technology and Finance, Principles of Taxation, Law.
- Professional Level: Financial Accounting and Reporting, Audit and Assurance, Business Planning, Tax Compliance, Business Strategy and Technology, Financial Management.
- Advanced Level: Case Study, Corporate Reporting, Strategic Business Management.

// Accountancy is so much more than the stereotypical corporate image of working in an office.

Louise Waters

Accounts Assistant at LJ Fairburn & Sons

I always wanted to be an accountant and decided to start my studies following university where I studied international business.

I first started my career in accountancy working in practice while studying AAT, but later got headhunted for my current role at LJ Fairburn & Sons where I was encouraged to continue my studies and progress onto the Level 7 Accountancy Professional Apprenticeship.

My employers are really supportive. I have a very varied, hands-on role and I am able to get involved with all aspects of the business. I get opportunities to put into practice what I'm learning on the ACA, and when I achieve something it feels like a positive reflection on everybody.

HOW TO BECOME CHARTERED

To become an ICAEW Chartered Accountant you must complete 450 days of on-the-job training alongside the study elements of the ACA qualification.

To do so you will need to secure a training agreement with a company or accountant authorised by ICAEW. The training agreement will outline the support you'll receive during training and will include details about tuition, study leave and mentoring.

As well as offering study leave, employers will usually pay for your tuition with a dedicated provider, and also pay for your exam and student registration fees. You'll need to complete the ACA qualification before you can apply to become a member of ICAEW.

Apply to a training vacancy with an ICAEW Authorised Training Employer now at train.icaew.com

OTHER ROUTES TO CHARTERED ACCOUNTANCY

You can also study the ICAEW Certificate in Finance, Accounting and Business (ICAEW CFAB), a standalone qualification that covers the first six modules of the ACA.

Find out more about ICAEW CFAB and the BFP now at icaew.com/icaewcfab

TRAINING AS AN INDEPENDENT STUDENT

If you've not been able to secure a training agreement, but want to take steps to qualifying as an ICAEW Chartered Accountant you are able to register as an independent ACA student. You will still need to complete the required work experience and professional development with an ICAEW Authorised Training Employer, but you will have the opportunity to start studying the ACA and take exams.

Read more about studying as an independent student here: icaew.com/icaewcfab

WHO CAN STUDY OUR QUALIFICATIONS?

You don't need a degree in accounting, finance or business to study for the ACA. In fact, 68% of our current students who hold a degree did not study accounting and finance at university.*

*UK ACA students in a training agreement.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU EARN?

Accountants are already changing the world.

Vincent Egunlae

Investment Banker and Co-founder of The Open Private School

When I left university, I didn't have much idea about what I wanted to do with my life. I googled 'lucrative careers', and the first thing that came up was CEO. I did some research into what the most successful CEOs had in common and many seemed to have strong finance backgrounds, that's when I decided to become an accountant.

Fast-forward a few years and I set up my firm's diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) action group. The success of the action group inspired me to help set up The Open Private School, a charity that gives state school pupils access to mentors who they otherwise wouldn't get the opportunity to meet.

All our mentors are brilliant people - they are opening young people's minds to the possibility of the person that they can become.

I have a very strong relationship with the ICAEW - I see it as a massive family. The brilliance of the ACA is that you can do anything, and I think accountants are already changing the world.
